OUR ASCE ALUM

ASCE has been important to my career because it has helped me learn more about projects, technologies, and issues in our industry as well as helped me build a network with companies and professionals in my area.

The competitions taught me about design, innovation, and working as a team to accomplish a goal.

FUGRO

Fugro is the world's leading Geo-data specialist. We unlock insights from Geo-data. Through integrated data acquisition, analysis, and advice, Fugro supports clients in mitigating risks during the design, construction, and operation of their assets, both on land and at sea. We contribute to a safe and liveable world by delivering solutions in support of the energy transition, sustainable infrastructure, and climate change adaptation.

Our planet is a complex and dynamic system that is continuously moving and evolving. Understanding this complexity is essential for designing, building, and maintaining assets in a responsible manner. It requires a comprehensive understanding of Geo-data: information related to the earth's surface, subsurface, and built environment.
